

Highlands Golf Course – Owl Boxes Project June 2011

Wilderness International is working with the Kootenai County Department of Corrections. We provide a project, and they provide people who need to work off community service time. In this case, we teamed up with Eric Larson (shown in photos) to build Screech Owl Boxes for the Highlands Golf Course in Coeur d'Alene, ID.

The owl boxes are beneficial in that the owls provide rodent control for the golf course.

They can eat 4 – 6 rodents, (voles, mice, shrews and rats) per night.

Plus Owls hunt mostly at night so they do not bother the golfers during the day.

First Owl box completed

The first set of boxes completed.